

What's the word?

Written by ArchangelX

Tuesday, 13 January 2009 22:39 - Last Updated Tuesday, 27 October 2009 10:17

We'd like to add some information to the site about where exactly this project is at at the moment, just to keep rumors from spreading. There haven't been any major updates as of late because our permits are still in "development hell" as they call it. We are currently awaiting the completion of the final stages of our stockpiling permit after some necessary changes had to be made. Due to the holiday season, we lost alot of time, but we are in full swing again now and are pushing to complete the stockpiling permit as fast as we can.

From there, we must complete our grading permit. Once this is done, we can begin construction of the future home of Kalaeloa Raceway Park.

Please watch this space, as we'll have some very important news coming soon.

Until then, we ask that you please support this project by contacting your responsible legislator, councilman, and anyone else you feel would be helpful in getting this project off the ground. You can also write a letter of support by clicking on the above links on the main flash banner.